FUNDER SPONSORSHIP OPPORTUNITIES

EMBASSY SUITES CONVENTION CENTER | DENVER, CO

Democracy is an ideal — the real-world practice of which is always inadequate, and requires vigilant analysis and improvement. FCCP believes that our democracy will bring about greater inclusion, justice, and equality when communities left out of decision-making have power and agency, when our democratic structures and institutions are sound, and when our culture fuels participation. As the nation's largest philanthropic serving organization focused on civic engagement, the Funders' Committee for Civic Participation (FCCP) serves a broad and diverse network united around a common vision- a society where marginalized communities have the power to make a difference on issues that impact their lives, a culture of participation that inspires their engagement, and an open and equitable democracy which offers meaningful opportunities to exercise their voice.

At its annual convening, held May 15-17, 2018 in Denver, Colorado, the FCCP community will convene in Denver, Colorado to be strategic about the critical questions facing our sector, re-energize ourselves, be open and honest about our own shortcomings and failings, embrace collaboration, and collectively build what the field needs right now. You can show your support for the work of our network, and for our democracy, by becoming a sponsor.

ABOUT FCCP

Established in 1983, FCCP has been a convening force in the donor community for over three decades and serves a broad network of grantmakers. Our members are civic engagement and democracy reform grantmakers headquartered throughout the United States. FCCP's membership is diverse and includes large foundations with an international reach, such as Ford Foundation, W.K. Kellogg Foundation, and Open Society Foundations; state and regional foundations; collaborative funds; labor organizations like AFL-CIO and National Education Association; and more. (A full member list is available on our website). Currently, FCCP has nearly 90 members who annually distribute roughly $700 million in grants.
