Relationships and Resilience

DEAR FCCP LEADERS,

On behalf of the Executive Directors Relationships and Resilience Collective, we'd like to thank you for your participation in the FCCP and FCAP post-election debrief The Future of Civic Power.

Our groups were honored to participate beside our partners in philanthropy to discuss the successes and gaps of our 2020 strategies, and our vision forward as we build towards justice and liberation in 2021. Our greatest collective lesson from the 2020 electoral cycle is the critical need for a 365-day integrated voter engagement investment strategy, which is critical to civic access, representation, and engagement for our organizations and the advancement of BIPOC power building.

Many of you asked us how you can support -- we ask that you invest in this community of practice by helping us to raise $650,000 by December 31, 2020. These resources are used to support our gathering for resiliency, support, and strategy and for managing the costs to host events like this one with the support of Dancing Hearts Consulting.

If you want to support the EDs of Color - Relationship and Resilience Collective, please make a contribution to State Voices and make a special designation under State Voices National and/or ED's of Color.

We are eager to continue our partnership, and our hope is you will take our call to action seriously as we continue to shift civic power for future generations. Feel free to review our next steps document which has the links to our slides, videos, and next steps.

In solidarity,
